WEST BASIN HONORS DISTRICT ENGINEERS DURING ENGINEERS WEEK

CARSON, Calif. – At its February Board meeting, the West Basin Municipal Water District board of directors honored the district’s engineers, and engineers across California, during Engineers Week (February 21 to 27). The board issued a proclamation acknowledging how engineers in the water industry are responsible for the infrastructure that supports our water processes and distribution systems, and helps fulfill society’s needs.

The District has a diverse staff of 13 engineers including civil, chemical, environmental and mechanical engineers. In addition, Division III Director Desi Alvarez and President Harold C. Williams are both professional civil engineers.

“We have a strong, highly educated and dedicated team of engineers here at West Basin,” said President Williams. “I’m very proud to work with these individuals, and hope we continue to develop and grow their talent. I also want to recognize the certified operators and technicians who work alongside the engineers as part of West Basin’s world class recycled water program to improve our quality of life.”

Founded by the National Society of Professional Engineers, Engineers Week is dedicated to ensuring a diverse and well-educated future engineering workforce by increasing understanding of and interest in engineering and technology careers.
